Above, foxhunters enjoy a scenic fall hunt on Pence's Place, near the Rapidan River in Orange. Far left, Charlotte Tieken, Master of Fox Hounds for the Keswick Hunt Club, enjoys a glorious fall day during a hunt. Top left, hound Oatmeal "speaks." Below left, the red tail fox, called "Charlie" by the hunters, scoots across the field as hounds and hunters pursue.
